

How To Survive in Washington

First, apply to Think Tanks. If one despises your advocacy then submit the few temperate passages you've written. You may even be invited on a panel--to be sandbagged by wits of bent dimension.

If in the audience with other intellectuals, ask questions with extensive prefaces which prove you're smarter than experts on the dais. All the exercises, anyway, intending to straighten out the Administration with rigors of Right or Left glimpsed through rhetorical fog.

There's always lunch, subsidised by rail-headed billionaire hogs.